Geologic modelling, geological modelling or geomodelling is the applied science of creating computerized representations of portions of the Earth's crust based on geophysical and geological observations made on and below the Earth surface. A geomodel is the numerical equivalent of a three-dimensional geological map complemented by a description of physical quantities in the domain of interest.

Modeling and simulation (M&S) at simple terms is a substitute for physical experimentation, in which computers are used to compute the results of some physical phenomenon. As it is apparent from its name "Modeling and simulation" firstly a computer is used to build a mathematical model which contains all the parameters of physical model and represent physical model in virtual form then ...

American Journal of Applied Mathematics (AJAM) is an interdisciplinary journal containing research articles that treat scientific problems using methods that are of mathematical interest. Appropriate subject areas include the physical, engineering, financial, and life sciences. Coverage of the journal has been strengthened in probabilistic applications, while still focusing on those areas of ...

International Journal of Theoretical and Applied Mathematics (IJTAM) is a peer-reviewed journal on all areas of theoretical and applied mathematics and methods to solve problems in engineering, natural sciences, and business through mathematical, computational and statistical methods. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to: pure mathematics, applied sciences, approximation theory ...
