I agree with Andrew. Our ills are our fault, nothing really to do with the EU. The attitude that changing things for the worse for those at the bottom is okay as long as "they" don't get what is a bit scary to me, especially as there are just as many "s" who want Brexit as a cash cow as remain "s".

1918, W. B. Maxwell, chapter 7, in The Mirror and the Lamp: St. Bede's at this period of its history was perhaps the poorest and most miserable parish in the East End of London. Close-packed, crushed by the buttressed height of the railway viaduct, rendered airless by huge walls of factories, it at once banished lively interest from a stranger's mind and left only a dull oppression of the spirit.

But then I had the [massive] flintlock by me for protection. The linen-press and a chest on the top of it formed, however, a very good gun-carriage; and, thus mounted, aim could be taken out of the window, and a 'bead' could be drawn upon Molly, the dairymaid, kissing the fogger behind the hedge, little dreaming that the deadly tube was levelled at them.

As a retiree, I have a special place in my heart for Monday mornings, because that's when I would have had to go back to work if it weren't for the joy of early retirement. Despite the option of complete leisure, I woke up at 5:30 this morning because the sky was starting to brighten and I was too excited about the new day to let any of it go to waste.
